Hughes Asks Bond Issue

The timeline being mailed to school districts for operating expenses will serve as a kind of 'mini-budget' for the town, Mr. Hughes pointed out. "It will give an idea of what our expenses will be in the next year."

Mr. Hughes said the $350,000 bond issue would go toward educational improvements, such as new buildings or renovations, and would be used only for those projects that could not be funded through the regular budget process.

"The bond issue is necessary to allow us to make improvements that the regular budget cannot cover," he said. "It is a way for us to plan and invest in our future educational needs."

-- I'm a regular Air Force guy, I have been in the ride for 20 years. When I bought my house here, I have to say that it was a nice one. The house was located on the beach, it was on the water and it was very close to the town. When I retired, I decided to stay here and I have been living here for the past 10 years. The house is very nice, it has a big garden and it has a lot of space. I have been living here with my wife and our two children. We have been enjoying our time here and it has been a great experience for us. We have been living here for the past 10 years and we have never regretted it. The house is very nice and it has been a great place to live.

They no longer have to worry about child support; they can simply place their money in a savings account, where it will grow. When and as their problems may be. In the Jaycees, the greater Red Bank area are some 95 members, headed by Larry White. They are part of a group of similar Jaycees chapters. There are about 6,000 units of this kind in the United States. These members confine themselves to what they do. They are fortunate with the jobs they hold and they are eager to make things better for others. They are Jaycees.

DeGaulle-Adenauer Agreement is Shaky

By JAMES MARION
Associated Press

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Feb. 15 (AP) - France and West Germany have just agreed to a document which is to be the basis for a new European Federal Union. The agreement was made by the two men who serve as Foreign Ministers for the two countries.

It would have been sabotage if it had been ten years ago, added one who knows the French and West German atmosphere. That is why the agreement was a non-event. The two countries have been at war with each other for over 100 years, and are only now seeking peace by giving up their military strength to a third party. The agreement was made by the two Foreign Ministers, who are under a vow exacted from their respective presidents, to cooperate in foreign policy, defense and cultural development. The agreement for a new European Federal Union was the result of a meeting between President De Gaulle of France and Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany.

The whole Western Alliance is uncertain. And even before the incorporators left it up to the presidential candidates to say that De Gaulle is bent on cooperation in foreign policy, de-

There have been a lot of changes around the U.S. Patent Office since Thomas Jefferson became its first Administrator 172 years ago.

The trend has been from simple mechanical things to highly complex chemicals and electronic devices of the space age.

Patents used to be issued on the spot. Now, because of their complexity, it takes 18 months or more just to prove that the idea is original.

Some 2,600 people, including 1,000 examiners, process 1,500 patent applications a week at the Patent Office of the Department of Commerce in Washington, aided by machines and a meticulous categorization of subjects.

Searches begin with foreign patents, reference books and technical literature. Even a description in a magazine proves the idea is not original and automatically disqualifies a patent application.

The prime purpose of patents is to insure that society derives the fullest possible advantage from the inventor's originality.

The inventor, in return for revealing full details of his creation, is granted the exclusive right to "make, use and sell" his invention for 17 years.

Without this legal protection there would be little incentive for the inventor to spend the time, effort or money required to create a new technology.

Rumson-Fair Haven Five Snaps Caseys' Jinx, Scoring 69-50 Victory

TED BARKER—The long-suffering jinx must be broken this season at the hands of Rumson-Fair Haven as the Five Snaps Five did it again Friday night. A 19-7 lead after a period of play, plus seven points and 10 free throws in the final period on the Ensign's home court at the high school caused the Caseys to fall in the 69-50 decision.

In the first period, the Five Snaps Five hit three points from the free throw line to lead, 19-7, after eight minutes of play. The Caseys' offense could not get under way until after the 9:15 mark. John Ballantine had 12 points in the first period for Rumson-Fair Haven.

In the second quarter, the Caseys' offense heated up. Seven points were scored in the mini-quarter after Red Bank Catholic's entrance was under way in the game. Jim Brown had two points, and Paul Paulson added a pair of free throws to lead the Caseys in the second period. The Five Snaps Five poured in nine points in the second half, plus nine points in the final period to lead, 50-27, at the end of the game.

The jinx was pretty heavy on the Caseys as they never had a chance to be on the winning side. The Five Snaps Five led at every quarter mark and the Caseys had only six points at the final buzzer.

The Five Snaps Five were led in the game by Ronald Johnson, who scored 13 points. Bill Jannarone added 12, and Jannarone had 10 points.
The Caseys' leading scorer was Jim Brown, who scored 13 points.

Knick Captures 4th Straight In R.B. Recreation League A Game

By BILL ROBINSON

If the run of the National Motor Boat Show, which concluded in New York last week, can be taken as an indicator, the solid phase of showing season becomes more evident during 1963. The boating people are now moving on so San Francisco, then Boston or Miami, and finally Chicago for a concentrated period of major events, measured that the state of the industry is in a very healthy one in most chores.

A local newspaper blackout caused by the postponed New York strike and some rainy weather on both weekends, attendance held up enough to make the show an important one. In general, the show seemed to be about 10 to 15 percent off from previous years. However, the first weekend was very close to those of 1962 and there wasn't much room to move without being caught by the weather.

Sales were also encouraging. When everything is tallied up, there is a strong likelihood that last year's $48 million in sales will be surpassed. While some of the top names in the industry have not yet reported, there is no doubt that the showing was no match for Wall Street's expectations. More than 130,000 people paid $2 to get into the show and there was almost a constant stream of customers through the gates. It was not unusual to see long lines of people waiting to get in on the Saturday afternoon.

The second quarter was even better than the first, and there was still a lot of interest on the final day. There were many people who came to the show to see the latest models and to get a feel for the industry. Many of the visitors were from out of town and were impressed with the variety of products available.

The overall picture was one of optimism and growth. There was a strong feeling that the industry was well on its way to recovery from the problems of the past year. Many of the exhibitors were optimistic about the future and felt that the show was a good start.

Carriers and sellers reported that they were getting more business from existing customers and that there was an increase in the number of new customers. Many of the exhibitors said they were happy with the show and that they would be back next year.
